

Narrative Interventions:

The What, Why, and How... Part 1

April 18, 2022 5:30 - 7:00 p.m.

COST: Free to Undergrad and Graduate Students

Presenter:

William Bolden III, MA CCC-SLP is a project coordinator and SLP at Kent State University. He has worked at the university for several years providing school-based speech and language services via telepractice.

Additionally, he has supervised graduate student clinicians as part of their clinical practicum in both on-site and telepractice therapy settings. William lectures on topics related to Telepractice and teaches coursework related to language disorders in children and adolescents as an adjunct course instructor.

Session Description:

This online event will describe narrative intervention, cover the research and evidence base for narrative interventions, include typical development for narrative skills, and provide examples of instructional methods and supports.

Course Level:

This is an introductory level course with more intermediate information available in the second training. Part 2 will be provided in June!

Learner Objectives:

1. The participant will be able to explain the research and evidence base supporting narrative interventions.
2. The participant will be able to describe typical narrative development and identify common narrative structures.
3. The participant will be able to describe instructional methods and supports for teaching story grammar.

Agenda:

- |                |  |
|----------------|--|
| 5:30-5:35 p.m. | Welcome, OSSPEAC Info. and Introductions             |
| 5:35-6:00 p.m. | Introduction to Narratives and Narrative Development |
| 6:00-6:25 p.m. | Assessing Narratives                                 |
| 6:25-6:40 p.m. | Teaching Story Grammar                               |
| 6:40-7:00 p.m. | Questions and Answers                                |

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

WHAT IS OSSPEAC?

OSSPEAC is a non-profit organization founded in 1994. The Ohio School Speech Pathology Educational Audiology Coalition provides a united voice for those Speech-Language Pathologists and Audiologists employed in the educational setting.

We invite you to explore our website and learn about scholarship, learning opportunities, legislative initiatives we sponsor and grant assistance provided by our organization.

OSSPEAC is dedicated to carrying out its unique purpose in providing support for Ohio's children with speech, language and hearing disabilities and the professionals who serve them. OSSPEAC is the only organization of its kind in the US.